

WELCOME TO TEACHERS.

Bay St. Louis today welcomes the teachers and trustees convention for Hancock county. Many teachers and trustees from over the county are here today. They are holding their business sessions at the courthouse.

The Standard Echo

HYMEL PITCHES TOMORROW.

Elmer Hymel, returned home from a season with the Louisiana B. B. League, will pitch tomorrow for St. Stanislaus game. A large attendance would serve as a rousing welcome to this Bay St. Louis star.

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR ALWAYS IN ADVANCE.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1921.

30TH YEAR—NO. 39

OYSTER COMMISSION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING; GULFPORT.

Officers Re-elected for ensuing year.—Reports of Prosperous Condition.—Mayor R. W. Webb Refuses Appointment as Oyster Commissioner from Governor.

Governor Lee M. Russell, a few days since appointed Hon. R. W. Webb, Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, oyster commissioner. Mr. Webb duly received his commission but felt since he was already holding a commission that as Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, he could not accept two commissions and hold dual office, although there was a difference of opinion regarding the matter.

With all of the members present, including newly elected commissioner, Farrell, from Pass Christian, the Mississippi Oyster Commission held its annual meeting in its office at Gulfport recently, the report of the secretary being published in the local paper, of which is the following:

"Appointments of officers took place and other matters were considered. This was one of the most important meetings held by the commission. The matter of the oyster season was considered for which a very prosperous outlook is held, following investigations recently made by the members of the commission.

The report of the secretary for the past year shows prosperous conditions for that time. From September 1st, 1920, to September 1st, 1921, there were collected from licenses a total of $3,986; from fines imposed, $316.00; tax on 367,461 barrels of oysters, $9,186.62, making a total revenue of $13,488.62.

Mr. Farrell, who was appointed as a member of the Mississippi Oyster Commission to succeed Mr. W. A. McDonald, of Bay St. Louis, in view of the fact that Mayor Webb, of Bay St. Louis, refused the appointment, as he already held an office which would conflict with this one, after his first meeting. Others present were: President August Roberts, of Orange Grove; Louis Manuel, of Pass Christian; Dr. J. H. Spence.

Mr. Roberts was re-elected president of the commission; W. J. Grant, secretary; Rushing & Guice, attorneys; A. Perisette, captain Althea Vardaman; Pete Costa, engineer; Louis Stachling, chief of oyster inspector; William Sick, Bay St. Louis; Hugh Latimer, John Calliver, J. W. Moore, Biloxi; deputy inspectors.

Mrs. R. W. Taylor entertained at tea from 1 to 6 yesterday afternoon, to meet Mrs. Thomas Taylor, who is visiting here from Baltimore, Md., at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. W. Taylor. A large number of cards were left and the many guests during the afternoon were charmingly entertained. Mrs. Taylor, the honoree, has been the recipient of many social courtesies and several informal affairs are planned for next week.

The Misses McGinn were hostess to a dinner of ten covers given Wednesday night at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McGinn on the beach front in compliment to Miss Florence Weber, of San Antonio, Texas, who has been the attractive guest of Mrs. Curtis L. Waller, on the beach front, for some time.

STATEMENT OF THE FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE MERCHANTS BANK,

Located at Bay St. Louis, in the County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, at the close of business, Sept. 6th, 1921, made to the Board of Bank Examiners.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts	357,284.62
Overdrafts, unsecured	1,805.92
United States Bonds, Certificates of Indebtedness and War Savings Stamps	21,684.75
Stocks, Bonds, Securities, etc.	77,442.39
Warrants, (State, County and Municipal)	550.00
Guaranty Fund with State Treasurer	2,000.00
Banking House and Lot	3,000.00
Furniture and Fixtures	3,500.00
Due from other Banks—commercial or reserve funds—	52,851.77
Exchange and checks for next day's clearings	1,825.98
Current	8,549.00
Gold Coin	415.00
Silver Coin, Nickels and Cents	2,789.85
All other items of Resource, viz: Suspense	243.26
Total	$538,392.54

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock	30,000.00
Surplus Fund	35,000.00
Undivided Profits, less amount paid for interest, taxes and current expenses	9,064.39
Dividends	82.50
Individual Deposits subject to check	197,569.51
Savings Deposits	168,408.70
Time Certificates of Deposit	80,876.00
Bank Deposits—other than branches	15,038.21
Cashier's Checks	2,385.23
Total	$538,392.54

I, GEO. R. REA, do solemnly swear that the above is a true statement of the financial condition of the Merchants Bank, located at Bay St. Louis, in the County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, at the close of business on the 6th day of September, 1921, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

CORRECT—ATTEST:

GEO. R. REA, Cashier and Vice President.
JOHN OSOINACH,
CHAS. G. MOREAU, Directors.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, County of Hancock.

Sworn to and subscribed before me a Notary Public, this 15th day of September, 1921.

J. A. BREAETH, J. P., and ex-officio Notary Public.
My commission expires January 1st, 1924.

SPLENDID ENROLLMENT CITY SCHOOLS 1921-1922 SESSION.

Took Place Monday, September 5th.—S. C. Coward, Principal-Elected; Contract.—C. J. McClure of Jackson, Elected Principal to Fill Vacancy.

Bay St. Louis City Schools opened the 1921-22 session Monday morning as per schedule and reports from the different schools over the city are to the effect that the enrollment is large.

Just before the opening the Board of School Trustees received a wire from S. C. Coward, principal last year, and who was re-elected to the same responsibility this year, to the effect that he would not be able to serve and to cancel his contract. The Board, through its president, Hon. S. F. von Ehren, and secretary, Mr. Geo. J. Tooa, and other members immediately got in touch with the Mississippi school authorities, and the result was that Prof. McClure, of Jackson, was elected principal of Central school, and he assumed charge Wednesday morning, relieving Miss Pearson, the high school assistant, who was acting principal in the interim. High school enrollment opening day was 134, but since the number has been augmented to nearly 200. The Webb and Taylor schools shows an increase over last year.

The matter of procuring books without long delay has been experienced every year, but this session finds the local depository able to supply all wants and all orders for special books filled the day after filing an order.

The faculty for this year and now in actual work is as follows: Central School—Prof. McClure, of Jackson, principal; Miss Cora Lee Pearson, of Conchetta, Miss. Mrs. W. H. Sylvester, Miss Celine Fayard and Miss Clara Kergosien.

R. W. Webb School—Miss Della Hymel, principal; Miss Mae Colson, Miss Nina Ladner.

R. W. Taylor School—Miss Rita Breath, principal; Miss Ella Fayard. The city of Bay St. Louis spends considerably more money annually on its schools and their expansion and amelioration, and it is noteworthy that the money is not spent in vain.

FOR SALE—Purchased Ancona chickens, two cockrels, one hen, $4 for all. Brown's vineyard, phone 40-J.

CHANCERY SUMMONS.

No. 2359.

The State of Mississippi.

To Tom McMellon:

You are commanded to appear before the Chancery Court of the County of Hancock, in said State, on the 4th Monday of October, 1921, to defend the suit in said court of Rose McMellon, wherein you are a defendant.

This 5th day of August, 1921.

A. A. KERGOSIEN, Clerk.

sept.3.

RECENT BAY-WAVELAND REGATTA WAS GRAND SUCCESS.

Event of September 3rd. Attracted Many Visitors to Bay St. Louis. Entries from New Orleans, Mobile and Intermediate Points. Winners and Prize Awarded.

Saturday, September 3rd, was a red letter day in the history of Bay St. Louis. It was, after a dormant period of some ten years or more, a revival of the annual regatta for Bay St. Louis and Waveland. And the affair proved even a greater success than the many affairs of the kind given during the years gone by. And this is much to the credit of the gentlemen having the arrangements in charge.

It was noted that there were many entries. New Orleans supplied quite a number as well as Mobile and from the intermediate points. Many friends of the boats arrived here by rail, in addition to the many who came by water and the number of visitors here for the occasion was well worthy of note.

A factor which contributed largely to the success of the day was the ideal weather. In fact, every element seemed to have contributed its full quota to the success of the regatta.

A move already has been inaugurated to organize for next summer, with the idea of giving the affair a regularity in the season. Many plans of organization, one including the incorporation of the country club features. However, it is safe to say, the Bay-Waveland forces will be organized and execute greater efforts next season, the big success of this regatta notwithstanding.

The executive officers of the organization are E. J. Leonard, commodore; Hugh Bourgeois, secretary; R. W. Sistrunk, treasurer. These gentlemen and their assistants were actively interested and in a large measure due to their individual efforts is the success of the regatta responsible.

Mayor R. W. Webb was one of the luminaries in the affair, working day and night and exerting every influence and every element contributing to the regatta. As is well known the Mayor is a wonderful worker and goes into a thing for the public good on every occasion with both shirt sleeves rolled up. His activity and interest in any event and on any occasion for the public good is inspiring.

The following official results were declared at a meeting held at the court house, Thursday night, Sept. 15, and given The Echo, as follows:

Schooners—
"Josie S." (Walkover).....$50
Class No. 1. "Helen".....$50
F. J. Foxley, owner.
Cabin Sloops—
Class No. 2. "Robin Hood" II, $50
Ravannack, Phineas and Ravannack.
Auxiliary Yawls—
"Loiterer".....$25
John O'Kelley, owner.

Machine Sloops—
Under 18 feet. "K. M. A.".....$30
D. B. O'Reilly, owner.

Model Sloops—
"Marie Louise II".....$30
Killery, owner.

"St. John".....$30
James Teaslip, owner.

Sloops— (16 feet under-over all)
"Everette".....$15
F. B. Hewes, owner.

Cat Boats— (Over 18 feet.)
"Gladys".....$30
G. P. Randolph, owner.

Cat Boats— (18 feet and under.)
"Rana".....$25
John O'Kelley, owner.

Cat Boats (16 ft over all and under)
"Silent".....$15
C. Eustis, owner.

Cat Boats— (12 feet and under)
"Ethel R.".....$10
Speed Boats—
"Arrow".....$50
Frank Johnson, owner.

Outboard Motors—
"Manny R.".....$10
I hereby certify that the above and foregoing crafts were the winners in their respective classes in the races of the regatta of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, sailed at Bay St. Louis, September 3, 1921.

R. LEE EDWARDS,
Chairman of Regatta Committee.
Before the meeting adjourned the matter of organizing a country club and yacht club was discussed and the matter gone into at length. The discussion resolved into a formal call authorized to be issued for a meeting at the court house, to be held on the evening of October 13.

At that time it is proposed to enter into the preliminaries of a permanent organization to incorporate for a country and yacht club.

Commodore E. J. Leonard, owner of a vast tract of land ideal for a golf course, with characteristic liberality, donated the use of such a course as necessary. It is also proposed to have finished the next season's regatta a club house on the shore side of the beach front.

GIERING HEADS KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS COUNCIL, NO. 1522.

Elected Grand Knight Pere LeDuc Council, No. 1522. Knights of Columbus, Bay St. Louis, Sunday Night Meeting.—A. A. Scalfie, Deputy Grand Knight.

Annual election of officers of Pere LeDuc Council, No. 1522, Knights of Columbus, Bay St. Louis, was held at the K. C. Hall, Sunday night, when E. J. Giering was elected Grand Knight, succeeding Joseph O. Mauffray, who has served the Council so long and who contributed so largely to its success. Mr. Mauffray expressed a desire not to stand for re-election and asked that his wish be regarded due to the fact of his inability to give the time and attention so necessary to such an exalted office in a fast growing organization with an already large membership. Arthur A. Scalfie was elected deputy grand knight, a recognition and compliment worthy bestowed.

The result of the balloting Sunday night is as follows:

Grand Knight—E. J. Giering.
Deputy Grand Knight—Arthur A. Scalfie.

Chancellor—L. A. Block.
Recording Secretary—Henry G. Capdepon.

Financial Secretary—Henry T. Fayard.

Treasurer—John Beuhler.

Lecturer—To be appointed.

Advocate—R. L. Genin.

Warden—August Schiro.

Inner Guard—Gaston Ladner.

Trustee—Guard—Alphonse Adam.

Trustee—J. V. Bontemps, 3 years.

Chaplain—Rev. A. J. Gmelch.

It is needless to say Pere LeDuc Council is in a flourishing condition, and the order is growing all the time.

The above-named officers will be installed within a short time, when the event will be followed by a celebration the same evening with a supper for the some two hundred members.

The Council recently sold its home on the beach front, and it is planned to erect a suitable building in the near future, a structure that will embody all the features of the modern club house, and one that will be commensurate with the dignity and importance of the Order. This has been in contemplation for some time, and it is for this reason the Hall was sold. Dr. A. A. Kergosien and R. N. Blaine being the purchasers.

During the illness of Grand Knight Jos. O. Mauffray, Past Grand Knight H. S. Sautier has been officiating.

The election of Mr. Giering is a splendid one. He is a man not only fitted for the responsibility of the trust and honor, but a man of executive ability, a successful business man and of engaging personality. He is popular with all members and will receive the unanimous co-operation of all aside from duty-bound. Mr. Giering moved to Bay St. Louis from Greenwood about one or two years since.

WITH THE THEATRES.

A. & G.—Beach Front.

TONIGHT, SATURDAY—"The Jacklins" and Buster Keaton comedy.

Monday, Sept. 19—Wanda Hawley in "Her First Elongement" and two reel comedy.

Tuesday, Sept. 20—Shirley Mason in "The Lamp Lighter" and Fox News and Mutt and Jeff.

Wednesday, Sept. 21—Betty Campion in "Prisoners of Love" a Goldwyn Super-special and two-reel comedy.

Thursday, Sept. 22—Constance Talmadge in "The Perfect Woman" and two-reel comedy.

Friday, Sept. 23—Alice Lake in "The Greater Claim" and Fox News.

Saturday, Sept. 24—Wm. S. Hart in "The Testing Block" and comedy.

VICTORY AIRDOME.

Monday, 19—Franklyn Farnum in "The Fighting Stranger" also 2-reel Hall Room Boys comedy.

Wednesday, SPECIAL!
Zane Grey's "U. P. Trail" with a powerful cast. Ray Stewart, Jos. Dowling, Kathryn Williams, Robt. McKinn, Marguerite De La Motte, and others. A massive picture of the great West. Also two-reel comedy. Nine reels.

Next Saturday—
H. B. Warner, in "When We Were 21" also Stub Pollard comedy.

"The U. P. Trail," Zane Grey's greatest novel will be the attraction of next week at the Victory Airdome. "The U. P. Trail" is a thrilling story of life and love in the pioneer days of the cuttings of the trail for the great U. P. Railroad, with as great a cast as ever seen in any picture.

FOR SALE—Three milch cows, in splendid condition. Will sell either separately or in number to suit purchaser. Call on J. C. Moore, telephone 10.

PROCEEDINGS BOARD OF SUPERVISORS FOR SEPTEMBER.

H. S. WESTON, OF LOGTOWN, ASKS HELP ON DYE EMBARGO.

General Routine of Business.—An Ordinance Prohibiting the Sale, Exchange or Giving Away of Milk Until All Cows Have Passed Inspection was Adopted.

Be it remembered that a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County was begun and held in the City of Bay St. Louis as the first Monday of September, A. D. 1921, being the 5th day of said month and the time and place for holding said meeting. There were present, to-wit:

H. S. Weston, president; W. E. Thigpen, Calvin Shaw, Jos. Moran, Jos. L. Favre, members; A. A. Kergosien, clerk; E. Van Whitfield, sheriff.

Ordered by the Board that the Board adjourn until tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

H. S. WESTON, President.

TUESDAY MORNING.

Board met pursuant to adjournment, present as on yesterday.

Ordered by the Board that the following amounts be allowed and paid out of the General County Fund, as per bill on file, examined and approved, to-wit:

G. A. Lee, labor.....6.00

A. A. Kergosien, chancery clk.....229.19

Sam Beard, laundry.....1.00

E. J. Gex salary.....75.00

Dr. J. A. Mead, county health officer, 3 months.....150.00

Jos. V. Bontemps, salary.....125.00

E. J. Kergosien, salary.....125.00

E. Van Whitfield salary.....250.00

Samm Beard, laundry.....1.00

A. A. Kergosien, stamps.....7.50

Jos. Moran, labor, wagon hire.....5.50

Sam Ladner, county treasurer.....38.35

W. T. Holden, refilling vats.....6.00

Olaus Nicaise, dipping.....7.50

Eb Murphy, court stone.....150.00

Wm. Cooper, dip.....181.25

Sea Coast Echo, printing.....8.10

Gaston Ladner, freight and printing, chancery clerk.....31.40

S. F. O'Neal, salary.....200.00

R. Moran, refilling vats.....5.00

Chas. Murphy, salary.....125.00

Olaus Nicaise, refilling vats.....2.50

Sam Favre, refilling vats.....2.50

A. L. Commerly, refilling vat.....2.50

Leonard Dawsey refilling vat.....8.00

Wilson Cuevas, refilling vat.....5.00

John McQueen, refilling vat.....2.50

printing and publishing.....29.00

drayage on dip.....9.49

E. Van Whitfield, conveying prisoners.....13.00

stamps.....2.90

removing debris from court room.....3.00

victualing prisoners.....84.00

conveying prisoners.....12.62

J. O. Mauffray, 1 day pension board.....3.00

J. W. Adams, labor 1 day.....3.00

J. W. Baxter, labor 1 day.....3.00

A. A. Nicaise, labor 1 day.....3.00

John A. Shubbs, con. trailer from Nicholson-Waveland.....5.00

Jos. Moran, team hire.....6.00

Ordered by the Board that the following amounts be allowed and paid out of the Road and Bridge Fund as per bills on file, examined and approved, to-wit:

W. A. Whitfield, 1-12 contract.....466.67

J. O. Mauffray, pins, etc.....35

Liberty Garage, oil, etc.....34.86

Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees mds.....40

W. G. Thigpen, 1-12 contract.....341.50

Francis Shaw, 1-12 contract.....375.00

Orsin Garriga, lumber.....5.38

A. L. Jones, lumber.....8.70

A. J. Bilbo, 1-12 contract.....335.34

H. Weston Lumber Co., br.....102.30

Andrew Carver, wheelwright.....9.15

Vidalia Lbr Co., lumber.....60.65

Mrs. Rutherford, br. tender.....35.00

W. T. Holden, labor.....38.75

Jos. Shiffale, labor.....31.25

Jos. Shiffale, team hire.....4.50

Mose Williams, labor.....32.50

Afe Shiew, labor.....4.00

John Hill, labor.....6.00

John Perkins, labor.....2.00

Herbert Terrell, labor.....18.00

M. Joyner, labor.....2.00

A. J. McLeod, team hire.....2.00

Mose Williams, paint brush.....1.00

A. J. Lott, nails, etc.....9.21

A. J. McLeod, bridge tender.....35.40

Ordered by the Board that the following amounts be allowed and paid out of the General County Fund as per bills on file, examined, and approved, to-wit:

W. L. Bourgeois, mds.....4.06

Bay Ice, Light and Bottling.....3.35

LEOPARD CANNOT CHANGE SPOTS

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Tells the Treachery of Calomel.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what Calomel is. It's mercury, quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile ducts, cramps, sickens you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

Observant Child.

A little girl was asked to go for a loaf of bread and was given the money.

"Is that enough, mamma?" she asked.

"Yes, dear; that is exactly the right amount."

"Well, you'd better give me a little more, 'cause the bread may go up 'fore I get there."—New Haven Register.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin.

On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful sometimes what Cuticura will do for poor complexion, dandruff, itching and red rough hands.

No Trespassers Allowed.

One of the wings of the plane had broken and its pilot, after crashing through a mass of planking and plaster, found himself resting on a concrete surface in utter darkness.

"Where am I?" he asked feebly.

"You're in my cellar," came an ominous voice out of the blackness. "But I'm watching you."—American Legion Weekly.

Polite.

"He means well." "I understand. That's a polite way of calling him a 'boob'."

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was not able to do my housework most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular and very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement.

A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. J. S. Little, 8455 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa. How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. No woman should allow herself to get into such a condition because such troubles may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American women to health.

BETTER DEAD

Life is a burden when the body is racked with pain. Everything worries and the victim becomes despondent and downhearted. To bring back the sunshine take

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

The National Remedy of Holland for over 200 years; it is an enemy of all pains resulting from kidney, liver and acid troubles. All druggists, three sizes. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

No More Misery After Eating

Just Take An Eatonic

"The first dose of Eatonic did me wonders. I take it at meals and am no longer bothered with indigestion," writes Mrs. Ellen Harris.

Thousands of people like this dear lady, gratefully testify about Eatonic, which does its wonders by taking up and carrying off the excess acidity and gases which bring on indigestion, heartburn, bloating, belching, flatulence, acid stomach, acid water, etc.

DAIRY FACTS

BETTER BULLS ADD PROFITS

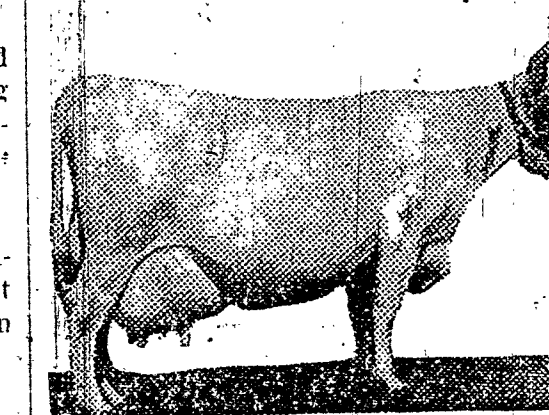

Associations Make Possible Improved Sires at But Small Additional Cost to Dairyman.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Two years ago a bull association was organized in Webster County, Mo., and a year later another one in the adjoining county of Wright and Douglas. The experience of these two associations illustrates the tendency of such organizations to display a tabular comparison is given below from which it will be noted that both organizations brought about a great reduction in the number of bulls needed. Before organizing, Webster county had 1 bull for every 17 cows, and Wright and Douglas counties 1 bull for every 29 cows; but in each locality after they got the association into operation they found 1 bull for every 50 cows was enough.

Another great change was in the value of the bulls. Before the bull associations were organized the bulls which the members owned were valued at $75 each. After organizing, the bulls purchased and owned by the two associations were worth on the average about $275 each, which is nearly four times as much as the privately owned bulls.

Yet the cost was not much greater per farm. When an individual owns a bull, the value of the bull and the amount of the investment are the same; but in a co-operative association each man pays only a part of the cost. The tabulation shows that the investment per farmer, that is, the average amount that each man had to pay was about one and a quarter times as much before the organization was formed, in Webster county and a little over twice as much in the Wright-Douglas association; but it both cases the value of the individual bull was three and two-thirds times as much. It appears, therefore, that by a comparatively small additional investment the members of these two associations were able to secure very much more valuable bulls.

A High-Producing Cow—The Result of Good Breeding.

Both these Missouri associations seem to have considerable influence in encouraging their members to keep pure-bred cows. The Webster county association started with only 2 pure-bred cows, but in 1920 there were no fewer than 95. The Wright-Douglas association had no pure-bred cows at all when it began, but a year later it had 12, a change which, though small, shows progress and may lead to great results in the future.

Comparative Figures.

	June, 1918	Oct., 1921
Webster Wright County Douglas Association
Number of members at time of starting	21	24
Number of members at time of starting	300	200
Number of bulls owned by members before organizing	18	1
Number of bulls owned by association after organizing	6	4
Cows per bull before organizing	17	28
Cows per bull after organizing	50	56
Average value of bulls owned by members before organizing	$75	$75
Average value of bulls owned by association after organizing	$275	$275
Investment per farmer before organizing	$38.71	$20.15
Investment per farmer after organizing	$53.45	$42.31
Pure-bred cows at time of starting	2	—
Pure-bred cows at present	95	12

SUCCESS WITH YOUNG STOCK

Part of Constructive Benefits Lost by Failure to Properly Develop Animals.

To breed good dairy cattle and then to grow and develop them is to lose part of the benefits of constructive breeding. More beginners fail because they do not properly feed the stock they buy or breed, than fail from any other cause. Find the farmers who grow out their young stock and you will find men who are making a success in their animal husbandry enterprises.

MUCH BUTTER IS IMPORTED

Efficiency of Foreign Dairymen Largely Responsible for Large Amount Coming Here.

The efficiency of the foreign dairymen is largely responsible for the vast amount of imported butter reaching this country. In Denmark the average cow's production is 220 pounds of butterfat a year. The average cow in this country is credited with less than 150 pounds.

First Rule of Feeding.

The first rule of successful and economical feeding of dairy cows is to give all the good roughage the cow will eat, making as much use as possible of those roughages on the farm.

Consequences of But.

One user who had the butter coming from the cow and the milk from the cow.

When Ella Needed a Man

By R. RAY BAKER

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Walter Creston accepted one of Mr. Clara's cigars, bit off the mouth end, lit the other and settled himself in a chair.

"You wished to see me?" he inquired rather listlessly. There was a dreamy, discouraged look in his pale gray eyes. Mr. Clara's mouth was curved in a beneficent smile.

"Yes," returned Mr. Clara as a wreath of smoke from his cigar merged with one from Clara's. He cleared his throat. "It's about Ella."

Walter appeared suddenly to lose some of his listlessness, and his eyes showed interest. For a moment he seemed fired with a new interest in life, and he opened his mouth as if to speak only to sink back again in the grasp of lethargy, the blaze burned out.

"Yes, it's about Ella," said Mr. Clara. "You wish to marry her, I understand."

"I do," Walter affirmed, "but what's the use? Last night I asked her for the fifth time this year and she turned me down again. Said, as she has said before, that she felt no need of a man. She was getting along very well, she told me, without any masculine person to look after her, and she could see no reason for accepting added responsibilities to her cares in the form of me. Furthermore, she informed me that I was ineligible, because I had no fixed purpose in life, and lacked thoroughness in everything I undertook. I guess it's because I've led a rather easy life, not being obliged to dig for a living, and as a consequence I've had a fling at several different businesses and professions and never got anywhere with any of them. I've got to work now, though, for the money."

"It was before, in Webster county and a little over twice as much in the Wright-Douglas association; but it both cases the value of the individual

"Did she turn you down cold?" asked Mr. Clara. "You know, I've rather favored you for a son-in-law, and frankly I'd like to see you win out. That's why I asked you up here this afternoon—to give you some advice."

"No," she didn't turn me down cold. She said, in fact, that she'd probably marry me when the time came, provided I didn't find some one else to marry."

"Ella's a queer girl," remarked her father, knocking a knob of ashes into a tray. "She's what you might call whimsical. The stage has to be set just right before she makes up her mind to anything, then she makes it up quickly, does the thing under contemplation and remains satisfied with her decision. 'Now here's a pointer for you. I'm taking Ella with me on a trip to my mines in Montana. We're leaving next Monday by automobile. Now there are plenty of chances for the Rockies. You need a trip for your health, Walter, and you have a nice big touring car and several friends who would make jolly companions. One in particular I think of—that young minister who was recently ordained. I would suggest him for such a trip. Please don't think I'm meddling and that I am trying to marry off my daughter, but I like you. Walter, and I'd like to see you win out. This is merely a suggestion, of course. You will not hurt my feelings by refusing."

Walter, Mr. Clara and his daughter went two men. They carried a complete camping paraphernalia, including a tent, but when opportunity offered they made use of deserted shacks along the route of travel. As soon as the party entered the foothills of the mountains some long-hidden chard in Ella's nature began to respond to some strange call sent out by the peaks of the Rockies that loomed against the sky. The constant talk of business by her father and his companions bored her almost to distraction, and she commenced with her own nature whenever a chance arose. This constant discourse on money matters seemed to her to be profaning the sanctity of the wilds.

One night Ella left the shack in which the party was quartered and made her way down the rather rough mountain road, stopping now and then to gaze pensively at a multitude of stars that shone from a clear sky. Down the road she remembered passing that day a quaint little tumble-down church, and she made this the goal of her night ramble. Her father had cautioned her to remain close to camp and she had intended to obey; but the church was farther than she had thought, and, besides, she was in a pensive mood which took no count of time or distance.

Finally a tiny cross on a decaying steeple met her eyes, silhouetted against the sky, and she made for it. She wanted to enter, but the silence of the interior repelled her, so she seated herself on a stone nearby and let her mind wander.

How long Ella sat there ruminating she did not know, but suddenly she came to herself with a start. A strange feeling of foreboding seemed to grip her. She glanced at her wrist and saw that the stars had withdrawn behind a black spread. Only the half-moon stared down coldly, its face pale behind a shroud of clouds.

It was not cold, but Ella shivered and drew her light shawl tightly about her neck. Far beneath her, in the canyon that began a few paces from her feet, a wild wail rent the air, the cry of some prowling animal. Then absolute stillness prevailed, a weird, ominous stillness.

Ella became afraid, although what there was to be afraid of she could not say. She wished her father was there to put a protecting arm around her, to make her feel secure against the unseen peril.

The solitude was terrible, and she arose from the rock, intending to flee to camp. But she seemed paralyzed. It was simply the grip of the big outdoors night that had fastened on her, but she felt an unfathomable terror, and she wanted to scream.

If only her father were there—or some one else to break the solitude. Yes, if Walter Creston only would appear on the scene with one of his everlasting proposals, she would welcome him! Walter was a pretty good sort, even if he did lack thoroughness, and she thought she would marry him some day. Anyhow, she needed some one now. Of a sudden she realized that she needed a man!

Down the mountain road she heard a humming sound. At first it increased her terror until she realized it was the motor of an automobile. Presently around a curve flashed a pair of electric eyes, and up the road rolled a "Twentieth century chariot." Ella forced her feet to carry her into the center of the road, and there she stood and waited for a troubling hand.

The car stopped, its lights resting on her. Out of the machine clambered four male figures.

"Hello—it's Ella!" exclaimed the foremost, and as he entered the light she recognized Walter. Without preliminary words she threw herself into his arms.

Presently she withdrew from the embrace and stammered an explanation.

"I was just wishing you were here," she said in concluding.

"Good!" he ejaculated. "At last you feel the need of a man. There is no time like the present. Will you marry me?"

She hesitated. Glancing aloft she saw the pale moon looking down, not quite so coldly now. In the distance high peaks loomed, not so forebodingly now. The restless motor was keeping the silence broken. Solitude was shattered by the four motorists. But still there was that strange grip of the outdoors, of wide distances, and in her breast her heart was pounding, but not now with fear.

"Yes," she whispered, "whenever you say 'well,' said Walter, 'let's make it right now.'"

"You foolish boy," she laughed. "Don't you know we need a minister and a license, and I've always wanted a church wedding."

"That's easy," he returned. "There's a minister in my party, and I've brought a license with me from the East, and what's that rumbling over there? It looks as if it might be a church!"

"You win," Walter she admitted. "It's a church all right. No one can say you are not thorough now."

steeple met her eyes, silhouetted against the sky, and she made for it. She wanted to enter, but the silence of the interior repelled her, so she seated herself on a stone nearby and let her mind wander.

How long Ella sat there ruminating she did not know, but suddenly she came to herself with a start. A strange feeling of foreboding seemed to grip her. She glanced at her wrist and saw that the stars had withdrawn behind a black spread. Only the half-moon stared down coldly, its face pale behind a shroud of clouds.

It was not cold, but Ella shivered and drew her light shawl tightly about her neck. Far beneath her, in the canyon that began a few paces from her feet, a wild wail rent the air, the cry of some prowling animal. Then absolute stillness prevailed, a weird, ominous stillness.

Ella became afraid, although what there was to be afraid of she could not say. She wished her father was there to put a protecting arm around her, to make her feel secure against the unseen peril.

The solitude was terrible, and she arose from the rock, intending to flee to camp. But she seemed paralyzed. It was simply the grip of the big outdoors night that had fastened on her, but she felt an unfathomable terror, and she wanted to scream.

If only her father were there—or some one else to break the solitude. Yes, if Walter Creston only would appear on the scene with one of his everlasting proposals, she would welcome him! Walter was a pretty good sort, even if he did lack thoroughness, and she thought she would marry him some day. Anyhow, she needed some one now. Of a sudden she realized that she needed a man!

Down the mountain road she heard a humming sound. At first it increased her terror until she realized it was the motor of an automobile. Presently around a curve flashed a pair of electric eyes, and up the road rolled a "Twentieth century chariot." Ella forced her feet to carry her into the center of the road, and there she stood and waited for a troubling hand.

The car stopped, its lights resting on her. Out of the machine clambered four male figures.

"Hello—it's Ella!" exclaimed the foremost, and as he entered the light she recognized Walter. Without preliminary words she threw herself into his arms.

Presently she withdrew from the embrace and stammered an explanation.

"I was just wishing you were here," she said in concluding.

"Good!" he ejaculated. "At last you feel the need of a man. There is no time like the present. Will you marry me?"

She hesitated. Glancing aloft she saw the pale moon looking down, not quite so coldly now. In the distance high peaks loomed, not so forebodingly now. The restless motor was keeping the silence broken. Solitude was shattered by the four motorists. But still there was that strange grip of the outdoors, of wide distances, and in her breast her heart was pounding, but not now with fear.

"Yes," she whispered, "whenever you say 'well,' said Walter, 'let's make it right now.'"

"You foolish boy," she laughed. "Don't you know we need a minister and a license, and I've always wanted a church wedding."

"That's easy," he returned. "There's a minister in my party, and I've brought a license with me from the East, and what's that rumbling over there? It looks as if it might be a church!"

"You win," Walter she admitted. "It's a church all right. No one can say you are not thorough now."

Country is Never Far Away.

The question is often asked, how can a man in a city write of a country far away, that he has not seen for years. But that country is never far away and the man looks over into it unconsciously. He has but to lift his eyes to see it as clearly as he sees the people in the streets. Such pictures of outdoor life are for any one a great possession, a divine inspiration, a treasure that he can never lose.

Walter, Mr. Clara and his daughter went two men. They carried a complete camping paraphernalia, including a tent, but when opportunity offered they made use of deserted shacks along the route of travel.

As soon as the party entered the foothills of the mountains some long-hidden chard in Ella's nature began to respond to some strange call sent out by the peaks of the Rockies that loomed against the sky. The constant talk of business by her father and his companions bored her almost to distraction, and she commenced with her own nature whenever a chance arose. This constant discourse on money matters seemed to her to be profaning the sanctity of the wilds.

One night Ella left the shack in which the party was quartered and made her way down the rather rough mountain road, stopping now and then to gaze pensively at a multitude of stars that shone from a clear sky. Down the road she remembered passing that day a quaint little tumble-down church, and she made this the goal of her night ramble. Her father had cautioned her to remain close to camp and she had intended to obey; but the church was farther than she had thought, and, besides, she was in a pensive mood which took no count of time or distance.

Finally a tiny cross on a decaying

steeple met her eyes, silhouetted against the sky, and she made for it. She wanted to enter, but the silence of the interior repelled her, so she seated herself on a stone nearby and let her mind wander.

How long Ella sat there ruminating she did not know, but suddenly she came to herself with a start. A strange feeling of foreboding seemed to grip her. She glanced at her wrist and saw that the stars had withdrawn behind a black spread. Only the half-moon stared down coldly, its face pale behind a shroud of clouds.

It was not cold, but Ella shivered and drew her light shawl tightly about her neck. Far beneath her, in the canyon that began a few paces from her feet, a wild wail rent the air, the cry of some prowling animal. Then absolute stillness prevailed, a weird, ominous stillness.

Ella became afraid, although what there was to be afraid of she could not say. She wished her father was there to put a protecting arm around her, to make her feel secure against the unseen peril.

The solitude was terrible, and she arose from the rock, intending to flee to camp. But she seemed paralyzed. It was simply the grip of the big outdoors night that had fastened on her, but she felt an unfathomable terror, and she wanted to scream.

If only her father were there—or some one else to break the solitude. Yes, if Walter Creston only would appear on the scene with one of his everlasting proposals, she would welcome him! Walter was a pretty good sort, even if he did lack thoroughness, and she thought she would marry him some day. Anyhow, she needed some one now. Of a sudden she realized that she needed a man!

Down the mountain road she heard a humming sound. At first it increased her terror until she realized it was the motor of an automobile. Presently around a curve flashed a pair of electric eyes, and up the road rolled a "Twentieth century chariot." Ella forced her feet to carry her into the center of the road, and there she stood and waited for a troubling hand.

The car stopped, its lights resting on her. Out of the machine clambered four male figures.

"Hello—it's Ella!" exclaimed the foremost, and as he entered the light she recognized Walter. Without preliminary words she threw herself into his arms.

Presently she withdrew from the embrace and stammered an explanation.

"I was just wishing you were here," she said in concluding.

"Good!" he ejaculated. "At last you feel the need of a man. There is no time like the present. Will you marry me?"

She hesitated. Glancing aloft she saw the pale moon looking down, not quite so coldly now. In the distance high peaks loomed, not so forebodingly now. The restless motor was keeping the silence broken. Solitude was shattered by the four motorists. But still there was that strange grip of the outdoors, of wide distances, and in her breast her heart was pounding, but not now with fear.

"Yes," she whispered, "whenever you say 'well,' said Walter, 'let's make it right now.'"

"You foolish boy," she laughed. "Don't you know we need a minister and a license, and I've always wanted a church wedding."

"That's easy," he returned. "There's a minister in my party, and I've brought a license with me from the East, and what's that rumbling over there? It looks as if it might be a church!"

"You win," Walter she admitted. "It's a church all right. No one can say you are not thorough now."

Country is Never Far Away.

The question is often asked, how can a man in a city write of a country far away, that he has not seen for years. But that country is never far away and the man looks over into it unconsciously. He has but to lift his eyes to see it as clearly as he sees the people in the streets. Such pictures of outdoor life are for any one a great possession, a divine inspiration, a treasure that he can never lose.

Walter, Mr. Clara and his daughter went two men. They carried a complete camping paraphernalia, including a tent, but when opportunity offered they made use of deserted shacks along the route of travel.

As soon as the party entered the foothills of the mountains some long-hidden chard in Ella's nature began to respond to some strange call sent out by the peaks of the Rockies that loomed against the sky. The constant talk of business by her father and his companions bored her almost to distraction, and she commenced with her own nature whenever a chance arose. This constant discourse on money matters seemed to her to be profaning the sanctity of the wilds.

One night Ella left the shack in which the party was quartered and made her way down the rather rough mountain road, stopping now and then to gaze pensively at a multitude of stars that shone from a clear sky. Down the road she remembered passing that day a quaint little tumble-down church, and she made this the goal of her night ramble. Her father had cautioned her to remain close to camp and she had intended to obey; but the church was farther than she had thought, and, besides, she was in a pensive mood which took no count of time or distance.

Finally a tiny cross on a decaying

steeple met her eyes, silhouetted against the sky, and she made for it. She wanted to enter, but the silence of the interior repelled her, so she seated herself on a stone nearby and let her mind wander.

How long Ella sat there ruminating she did not know, but suddenly she came to herself with a start. A strange feeling of foreboding seemed to grip her. She glanced at her wrist and saw that the stars had withdrawn behind a black spread. Only the half-moon stared down coldly, its face pale behind a shroud of clouds.

It was not cold, but Ella shivered and drew her light shawl tightly about her neck. Far beneath her, in the canyon that began a few paces from her feet, a wild wail rent the air, the cry of some prowling animal. Then absolute stillness prevailed, a weird, ominous stillness.

Ella became afraid, although what there was to be afraid of she could not say. She wished her father was there to put a protecting arm around her, to make her feel secure against the unseen peril.

The solitude was terrible, and she arose from the rock, intending to flee to camp. But she seemed paralyzed. It was simply the grip of the big outdoors night that had fastened on her, but she felt an unfathomable terror, and she wanted to scream.

steeple met her eyes, silhouetted against the sky, and she made for it. She wanted to enter, but the silence of the interior repelled her, so she seated herself on a stone nearby and let her mind wander.

How long Ella sat there ruminating she did not know, but suddenly she came to herself with a start. A strange feeling of foreboding seemed to grip her. She glanced at her wrist and saw that the stars had withdrawn behind a black spread. Only the half-moon stared down coldly, its face pale behind a shroud of clouds.

It was not cold, but Ella shivered and drew her light shawl tightly about her neck. Far beneath her, in the canyon that began a few paces from her feet, a wild wail rent the air, the cry of some prowling animal. Then absolute stillness prevailed, a weird, ominous stillness.

Ella became afraid, although what there was to be afraid of she could not say. She wished her father was there to put a protecting arm around her, to make her feel secure against the unseen peril.

The solitude was terrible, and she arose from the rock, intending to flee to camp. But she seemed paralyzed. It was simply the grip of the big outdoors night that had fastened on her, but she felt an unfathomable terror, and she wanted to scream.

If only her father were there—or some one else to break the solitude. Yes, if Walter Creston only would appear on the scene with one of his everlasting proposals, she would welcome him! Walter was a pretty good sort, even if he did lack thoroughness, and she thought she would marry him some day. Anyhow, she needed some one now. Of a sudden she realized that she needed a man!

Down the mountain road she heard a humming sound. At first it increased her terror until she realized it was the motor of an automobile. Presently around a curve flashed a pair of electric eyes, and up the road rolled a "Twentieth century chariot." Ella forced her feet to carry her into the center of the road, and there she stood and waited for a troubling hand.

The car stopped, its lights resting on her. Out of the machine clambered four male figures.

"Hello—it's Ella!" exclaimed the foremost, and as he entered the light she recognized Walter. Without preliminary words she threw herself into his arms.

Presently she withdrew from the embrace and stammered an explanation.

"I was just wishing you were here," she said in concluding.

"Good!" he ejaculated

THE SEA COAST ECHO.

C. G. Moreau, Editor and Publisher.

Official Journal of The Board of Supervisors, Hancock County, Miss.
Official Journal of Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

CITY ECHOES.

—Mrs. Frank B. Fox returned to her home at Jackson, Miss., after spending a few days with Bay St. Louis friends. Mrs. Fox accompanied her sons, Frank and Russell, who have resumed classes for their third season at St. Stanislaus College.

—Mr. Dan E. Bourgeois, assistant cashier at the Merchants Bank, accompanied by Mrs. Bourgeois, is spending the week on his vacation at Piquette, and vicinity, visiting relatives.

—The popularity of the Tea Room continues. Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Nelson, proprietors, continue to dispense the good things to eat, which has made their place famous, including their famous home-made ice cream cones. The Tea Room is a popular meeting place and rest room; the noon-day lunch is popular and after the show always attracts a large crowd. Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Nelson intend to make the Tea Room as popular this winter as it was during the summer.

—The city of New Orleans has been officially notified that there will be an invasion of 12,000 troops during a given time in October. These troops are in a measure organized and migrate from section to section of the country at different periods of the year. The overflow from the big city will be great and many of the unemployed will find way to the Gulf Coast. On all such occasions our chief of police has always been on the job and this instance we feel satisfied will not prove the exception. The slogan in such case is "Move On," and the pass word to keep out of trouble is "Walk the Bridge."

—The big fall sale at the Bay Mercantile Company's big store, advertised extensively in last week's issue of The Echo, has been on since Wednesday and will continue to October 1st. The slaughter of prices, as advertised, has attracted many people from time to time and from over the city and county. There is a large and varied stock to select from and purchasers are taking advantage of exceptional values at figures below the current market price. This is an opportunity for the man or woman who values the purchasing power of a dollar.

—An industry of no mean proportions that has recently been developed in Bay St. Louis is that of painting automobiles, the same as factory made, and many cars from away are now sent to this city to receive this attention. The Claud Monti Garage, corner Union and Hancock streets, has developed this industry until it is now one of magnitude. The work is of the very highest order, and is carried out with the same technical ability and success with similar results as in the big factories of the country. It is noted that many summer residents leave their cars here to be repainted and to follow them later. In this way Mr. Monti has built up an interesting and profitable business.

—Plasterers, painters and carpenters are putting the finishing touches on the handsome and spacious Edwards' Garage, Main, near Front street, and the owners contemplate moving to their location some time after the 1st of the month.

The building is admired by all who see it. It is not only an evidence of the enterprise and progressiveness of Messrs. Edwards Brothers, but will serve as a monument to their success in business which comes from service and fair dealing. The building is of brick and in a measure fire-proof, of the type of construction known as "slow burning." More buildings of this kind in the business section would reduce the fire hazard practically to a minimum.

—Mrs. E. W. Sistrunk, and children, Annie and Joseph, have gone to Brookville, Fla., to visit Mrs. Sistrunk's parents. The occasion of the visit back home was to celebrate the birthday of the twins.

—The Board of Supervisors has passed an ordinance, which appears officially in this issue of The Echo. It concerns the owner of every milk cow in the county. Failure to observe the provisions of this ordinance will subject the violators to a penalty.

—Mr. John McDonald, splendid young son of Major and Mrs. W. A. McDonald left a few nights since for Bell Buckle, Tenn., where he has resumed his studies at the well-known college located there. He made such a brilliant success and a record in his studies at Bell Buckle last season, and it is anticipated that he will again lead his classes.

—Dr. A. A. Kergosien and Mr. R. N. Blaize were business visitors to Pascagoula yesterday in the interest of the new drug store they are planning to open in the building which they purchased from the K. of C. on the beach front. They plan extensive renovation of the building and to equip the interior with modern and handsome fixtures.

—After a cessation of activity all summer, members of St. Joseph Auxiliary met at the convent basement, Tuesday afternoon, with a goodly attendance. It was decided to put new life in the organization and to urge its existence on to a greater purpose and results. Accordingly a benefit card party, as one of the first of contemplated series of benefits to follow, was decided upon, which took place last night at the K. of C. Hall, and was both a social and financial success, netting about $20.00.

—In this issue of The Echo appears the quarterly statement of The Merchants Bank, as called for by the State Auditor. It will be noted the bank's resources are over a half million dollars, and every item makes a substantial showing, which shows the activity and constant growth of the Merchants Bank. A careful perusal of the figures will prove interesting and the increase is an indication of how Bay St. Louis is growing.

—Mayor R. W. Webb is to be complimented on his appointment a few days ago by Governor Russell as oyster commissioner of the State from Hancock County, an honor and trust which he did not seek. In fact, feeling a delicacy in holding two offices, Mayor Webb returned the commission to the Governor with a graceful letter in which he acknowledged the consideration and stated reasons for not wishing to accept the appointment. Governor Russell then appointed Geo. Farrel, newspaper man from Pass Christian.

—Mr. R. N. Hamilton, of Kansas City, Mo., while spending a while in New Orleans, came out from that city Tuesday and spent the day with friends and acquaintances of his boyhood days. Mr. Hamilton was a resident with his parents of Bay St. Louis for several years, but left here 18 years ago, "when Bay St. Louis had only two brick buildings," as he puts it. He found many solid and beautiful improvements and hopes to return soon to stay longer.

—A second story containing several rooms has been added to the dwelling of W. J. Gex, Front street. This addition is of considerable size and is equipped with all the appointments of a modern home. Ferdinand Ramond is the contractor and has carried out his work successfully, and we understand to the thorough satisfaction of the owner.

—A number of bungalow and other style houses are being erected over the city, forming a notable improvement and filling a long-felt want. It is noted that no less than twenty dwellings are in course of construction at present. Quite a number of these are being built by R. C. Engman as an investment. We understand a number of others are to follow. In fact, if all plans carry there is an extensive building program to be carried out this winter.

—C. R. Talbot, former superintendent of Bay St. Louis schools, has charge of the schools at Ocean Springs for 1921-22.

—Mr. P. V. Laeoste is away on a business visit East and North, and is spending a while at Toronto, Canada, before returning home.

—There will be another game of ball tomorrow afternoon, on the campus when the local collegians will meet the Parkers from New Orleans. The game will be called at 2:30.

—Special attention is called to the open letter by the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees, addressed to the Sheriff of Hancock County, and offering $50.00 reward to any one who will give information that will convict party or parties guilty of selling shiny, white lightning, etc., to its employees or within the confines of its premises.

—Mrs. Joseph Killen and infant daughter came out from New Orleans a few days ago to spend a while visiting at Mrs. Killen's mother, Mrs. Spurl, Front street, while Mr. Killen is away on a business trip through Texas. This is baby's first visit to Bay St. Louis, and such a fine and beautiful baby is receiving a royal welcome by the friends of the family.

—Ever keeping abreast with the times and ever on the alert for the protection of its charges, St. Stanislaus College has procured the services of a resident professional nurse who will have charge of the infirmary and attend to the collegians in general. No more thorough and competent person could have been secured than Miss Edwards, of this city, who assumed her duties at the college on the 1st. The college has ever given the health of the collegians first consideration; every precaution taken and no sanitary measure ever overlooked. In securing the permanent services of a professional nurse is a step far in the right direction. Dr. C. L. Horton is the physician as heretofore.

BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS.

In view of the fact that both the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Bay St. Louis and the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County have contracted for the services of a permanent veterinarian, in the person of Dr. William Cain, and that a thorough inspection of all cattle for traces of tuberculosis, in city and county is prosecuted with unrelenting force and attention under official auspices, the following from the editorial columns of the New Orleans Daily States recently, will be read with interest and profit.

"Those who doubt that tuberculosis can be transmitted from cow to human beings will at least be interested in this remarkable case recorded by the United States Department of Agriculture from a report of the Farm Bureau of Illinois respecting a tragedy in Edgar County."

A farmer had his herd treated for tuberculosis and one cow reacted. Instead of destroying her the farmer declared the test undependable, moved the east tag and sent her to his hired man for wages.

Of seven children in the man's family, five have contracted pronounced cases of tuberculosis. The other two did not drink this cow's milk. A pig and a cat also contracted disease after drinking the milk.

A warrant has been issued for the original owner on a charge of breaking quarantine and it is stated, should one of the children die he will be subject to a charge of manslaughter.

Dairy herd inspection by the Federal government has the primary purpose to protect the public health. It ought, therefore, to be enforced without delay, and local communities ought to stand behind the authorities in seeing both Federal and State laws are carried out, though they sometimes may involve personal loss.

In this case the refusal of a farmer to abide by the law on the usual excuse that the inspection was undependable, has had a tragic sequel and he ought to be prosecuted for the public good. A prosecution would unquestionably attract the close attention of scientific men and if the accused were not convicted the real and expert evidence of trial would develop would be of no inestimable service in the cause of disease prevention.

CITY COLORED SCHOOL OPENS 1921-22 SESSION; 225 ENROLLED

Opening exercises of the Valena C. Jones High School was a success in many ways.

A large number of patrons and visitors were present. The city board of trustees was represented by Mr. S. F. Von Ehren and Mr. S. I. Touquet. After being introduced to the school by Prof. Brown, Mr. Von Ehren delivered a wholesome address.

The following persons were introduced and delivered excellent addresses: Rev. A. H. Latham, Mrs. H. H. Lowe and Miss Johnnie Martin.

Two hundred and four students were enrolled on the first day. Present enrollment, 225.

The entertainment given by the members of the Home-Makers' Club for the benefit of the industrial department of the school was a financial success. The following were the committee: Mrs. Bertha Benoit, Mrs. Aline Winston, Mrs. Lou Foster, Mrs. Emma Gilbert, Mrs. Annie Wavers, Mrs. Annie Halchman, Mrs. Ophelia Smith, Mrs. Mary, Mrs. Berrett Williams and Mrs. Alice Bonham.

Boys, if ever you do emerge, look out for somebody doin the Bill Hart to you, before you get the shot down on him.

Now on the lanes, FULLER BULL.

SULLY'S COLUMN.

Mr. Fatty Arbuckle, Care some real fallin', California, U. S. A. Dear Old Sully:

As I was pickin up the paper, this a. m., what should I pop my glimpse on but the bunch of trouble what it seems you got your pa's monkey in out in land of fairy dreams. The news says that you blowed out the lights of a beautiful Jane what joined one of your Hootch parties; is that straight goods Fatty? And, say, ho, the news furthermore and again says that the said demise of the Jill was also caused by the "internal" injury thereof—say old bucket of lard, tell me, did you get loaded and sit on the fair dame?

I want to ask you a few questions and I'm hopin that you will answer them happily, as you do everything else; for you know well that every time the A. & G. show your face on the bill board what sticks up in the front of the show-house, I make it a point to be on hand and also to have the Missus and the brood from the residence to scrutinize your well-known phiz and wallop, the boy has got a new ambition what is to accumulate to the muscles of what high livin seems to have endowed you with to the beef; the junior females of the aforesaid brood what combine at my residence three times daily by the cook's clock and once when the Sandman brings on the dream potion, are all to the giggles and glory when you perform the hazardous trick of a real farm malkin love—but, I'll tell you, Fatty, if you don't get straight on the alibi pretty darn soon, you are goin to lose the giggle, for this stunt you pulled off maslin a Jill to the death is goin against you. But, listen, Bo, did you really truly cross-your-heart, SIT on the lady?

Have you been havin that fat cellar very long? If not, well where did the hootch come from? No, I'm not a lawyer guy, Fatty, but just simply a friend of yours what is tryin to get the straight souse I maybe dope you out maybe a alibi—which means accordin to the lawyer fellows something what fools people into believin you wasn't anywhere around, get me?

What you want is to get outa jail ain't it? Well, that ain't right Fatty, for you don't know what ads you gettin in the news sheets every hour and besides you don't want to forget all the details of this little transaction, for the chances are that the dear old public is goin to want you to show on the screen just what you did it and how. You see, Fatty, there's many a fat man what wants to get rid of his Rib and don't know how, so when he sees the operation on the calcium he'll be under obligations to you for wisin him, see?

Well, tell me, old tub, was you thinkin you was pullin off a stunt as a Hollywood or did you just lose your bean and tried something new? And, how many times did you try that before you succeeded? You see I'm tryin to get that alibi fixed up. Say, old ham, a happy that struck me—Can't you prove by some of them spiritual science folks what infers Holly that it wasn't you a tall, but just the spirit of one of you, fat granddaddies? I understand them people out in Calif stands for any doggone thing what looks like its new; try it once, Bo, maybe it'll work, eh? The wise guys all say that anything is worth tryin once.

Then theres another way, Fat, old slob, hire you one of them Jack London schooners (the kind that only lasts so long) give a party what will include all them guys what was in ten miles of the internal accident, let em set sail on the foam with about half that doggone cellar (you gotta keep some for when you do the slide outen fall) and then leave it to the elements and that jazz gang, and I'll bet they wont be no more evidence agin you than there'd be against old Adam. You see, old lard can, I'm thinkin hard to get in that alibi, get me?

I see by the Hollywood Cramp that the Jacks and Jills are sorta divided in the regards as to how you stand and the ectetera as to bein guilty of the thing and all like that, but you should worry, Fatty, soon you do the emerge and the trumpets starts snorin out loud, all that push is goin to mount the band wagon.

Now, if on the other hand, bo, they find that you've spent as much of the time you should here on this terra firma, and you're due for the bumps, why, well, just look em and grin, for you wont be the first nor the last. Youve had a good time anyhow, so what is it to the worry if a few such things as years are lopped off sooner or later, you wont mind that, will you, old ridge-sides?

Now ho, I want to ask you one more question before I start waitin for the verdict: If you ever leave the hoosgow will you be in much of a hurry to another party or will you send in an application for membership in the Volkstead society?

The mayor of Bingham, what resides in our vicinity, says if they do pronounce the word and you dont know what to do with that cellar, why just send it to Bayou Gallere in your memory.

Bo, if ever you do emerge, look out for somebody doin the Bill Hart to you, before you get the shot down on him.

Now on the lanes, FULLER BULL.

Mr. Fatty Arbuckle, Care some real fallin', California, U. S. A. Dear Old Sully:

As I was pickin up the paper, this a. m., what should I pop my glimpse on but the bunch of trouble what it seems you got your pa's monkey in out in land of fairy dreams. The news says that you blowed out the lights of a beautiful Jane what joined one of your Hootch parties; is that straight goods Fatty? And, say, ho, the news furthermore and again says that the said demise of the Jill was also caused by the "internal" injury thereof—say old bucket of lard, tell me, did you get loaded and sit on the fair dame?

I want to ask you a few questions and I'm hopin that you will answer them happily, as you do everything else; for you know well that every time the A. & G. show your face on the bill board what sticks up in the front of the show-house, I make it a point to be on hand and also to have the Missus and the brood from the residence to scrutinize your well-known phiz and wallop, the boy has got a new ambition what is to accumulate to the muscles of what high livin seems to have endowed you with to the beef; the junior females of the aforesaid brood what combine at my residence three times daily by the cook's clock and once when the Sandman brings on the dream potion, are all to the giggles and glory when you perform the hazardous trick of a real farm malkin love—but, I'll tell you, Fatty, if you don't get straight on the alibi pretty darn soon, you are goin to lose the giggle, for this stunt you pulled off maslin a Jill to the death is goin against you. But, listen, Bo, did you really truly cross-your-heart, SIT on the lady?

Have you been havin that fat cellar very long? If not, well where did the hootch come from? No, I'm not a lawyer guy, Fatty, but just simply a friend of yours what is tryin to get the straight souse I maybe dope you out maybe a alibi—which means accordin to the lawyer fellows something what fools people into believin you wasn't anywhere around, get me?

NOTICE OF SALE BY COMMISSIONER.

Esperio Alford v. Munch, et al. No. 2267.

Notice is hereby given that I, A. A. Kergosien, Clerk of the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, and Special Commissioner in the above styled cause, pursuant to a decree rendered in said cause on the 10th day of September, A. D., 1921, will on the 10th day of October, A. D., 1921, between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 o'clock p. m., sell, at the front door of the Court house of Hancock County to the highest bidder for cash, at public outcry, land in the City of Bay St. Louis, said Hancock County, Miss., described as follows: to-wit: Having a frontage of one hundred feet on the south side of St. John Street, and running back between parallel lines one hundred feet and to a corner south twenty degrees west one hundred and twenty-five feet to the dividing line this lot from land (now or formerly) of Lena D. Fahy; and bounded on the east by a lot owned by E. Lamulle, now, or formerly, which lot has a frontage of one hundred feet on St. John Street, and is situated in the corner of said street and Dunbar or Nicaise Avenue and on the west by land now or formerly of John V. Spaulding. The above described lot of land is known and designated on the official plat of said City made by W. T. Seal, filed in the office of the Chancery Clerk of said County on September 3rd, 1888, as part of Lot C of Lot 112, Second Ward; and said above described is the same land conveyed to John A. Munch by John V. Spaulding by deed dated 27th day of April, A. D., 1887, and recorded in Book U, pages 285-286, of the Records of Deeds of said Hancock County together with all improvements thereon.

Given under my hand this 12th day of September, A. D., 1921. A. A. KERGOSIEN, Clerk and Special Commissioner.

$50.00 REWARD. September 9, 1921. E. Van Whitefield, Sheriff of Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Mr. Sheriff: It has come to the attention of the management of the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees that reports are being circulated to the effect that intoxicating liquors or white lightning are being sold on or near the land and premises of the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees.

The management of the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees is opposed to the unlawful sale of Blud Tiger Liquor and White Lightning on or near their land and premises. It is a violation of the law and gives a great deal of trouble among our employees; and we take this opportunity to say to you, that the management of the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees stands ready at all times to render you and all the other officers of the law aid and prevention in the sale of intoxicating liquors or White Lightning on or near their land and premises, and to this end, the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees will pay a reward of $50.00 to any person who will furnish evidence and procure a conviction of any person or persons for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors on or near their land and premises.

In order that the public may be advised of the offer of this reward, we are having a copy of this letter published in The Sea Coast Echo.

Yours very truly, T. W. DAVIS, Attorney for the Edward Hines Yellow Pine Trustees.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO BORROW MONEY.

State of Mississippi, Hancock County.

On motion duly seconded and carried, the following was unanimously adopted by the Board of Supervisors at its September meeting.

WHEREAS, it is necessary to borrow money for Hancock County to meet the expenses of County for current year.

NOW THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of said County, on September 7th, 1921, to borrow $15,000 for the General County fund in anticipation of the taxes for the year 1921, to defray expenses of said year; to issue the negotiable note of said County, maturing not later than February 15, 1922, and bearing not more than 6 per cent. per annum.

A. A. KERGOSIEN, Clerk Board of Supervisors. August 28th, 1921.

NOTICE TO APPLICANTS FOR COUNTY EXAMINATION.

The regular examination will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 1, 2 and 3, 1921 for white applicants and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 8, 9 and 10, for colored applicants.

The second fall examination for white will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 15, 16 and 17, 1921.

All applicants are requested to be on hand at 10 o'clock, A. M., with necessary equipment for the examination.

Yours truly, T. E. KELLAR, Superintendent of Education, Hancock County.

BAY ST. LOUIS SWIMMERS.

Party of Four Swim Across the Bay of St. Louis, With No Difficulty.

A party of four swam across the bay of St. Louis last Sunday, and performed the feat with no difficulty. In fact, it was comparatively an easy task. The swimmers were: Mrs. Carl Marshall, her brothers, Alfred and Wallace Chapman and their young friend, Andrew Hooper, summer resident from New Orleans.

The distance was covered in about a hour's time. The exact distance of the course they covered is not known, however, suffice to say this L. & N. R. R. bridge, which spans the bay at its narrowest place is 2 1/2 miles long.

Reaching the other side the party was not at all tired. Two of the parties reaching shore first, turned back considerable distance and met the other two and accompanied them to shore.

—FOR SALE—Two milk cows; one Holstein and one Jersey. Apply at Standard telephone 35. 21.

We keep all Business Matters Confidential

When either woman or man, husband or wife does business with us, we keep CONFIDENTIAL the amount of their deposit and their business transactions.

We advise every woman to have a bank account of HER OWN. It teaches her BUSINESS methods—a very necessary thing for a woman to know at all times.

We Invite YOUR Banking Business.

The Merchants Bank

Bay Electric Co.

MASONIC BUILDING.
ELECTRIC WIRING AND SUPPLIES.
P. O. BOX 513 : BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS. : PHONE 84.
All work guaranteed to pass insurance regulations.
ELECTRIC IRONS AND FANS REPAIRED.

New Prices!!

REO SPEEDWAGON
REO TOURING
COUPE SEDAN

The "Gold Standard of Value" announces its New Prices. Everyone knows the performance of THE REO. Demonstration will be made upon application.

Ellis Motor Company, Incorporated.
PHONE JACKSON 2147. 1400 ST. CHARLES AVE. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF LAND.

Pursuant to a decree of the Chancery Court of Hancock County, State of Mississippi, rendered on the 20th day of August, A. D., 1921, Cause No. 2440, on the General Docket of said county, wherein Mrs. Marguerite Solomon is complainant, Merchants Bank, et als., defendants, I, the undersigned commissioner will offer for sale and sell for cash before the front door of the Court House of said county, in the City of Bay St. Louis, within lawful hours, the first Monday in October, A. D., 1921, the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning at a post on the Western line of Dunbar Avenue at a point where the dividing line between this lot and Lot 24 assessed to Mrs. J. D. Blakemore intersects said Western line; thence running North 70 degrees west 72.46 chains (4782.36 feet) more or less to a cedar on bank of the Jordan river; thence South 59 degrees west 4.16 chains (274.56 feet) to a point between two small Bayou on the bank of the Jordan river; thence South 70 degrees east 76.58 chains (5054.28 feet) more or less to a post set on the western line of Dunbar Avenue; thence north 20 degrees east along the said western line 234 feet to the place of beginning, containing about 26.65 acres. Bounded on the north by lots assessed to Mrs. J. D. Blakemore and A. R. Cuevas; east by Dunbar Avenue, South by land owned by J. A. de Montluzin and west by Jordan river. That part of the above described land lying inside of the corporate limits of the City of Bay St. Louis is designated as Lot 25, First Ward, that part outside of said limits is known as Lot 14, rear First Ward. The lot numbers above referred to as so numbered and designated in the First Ward of a map of said city made by L. J. Henderson filed in the office of the Chancery Clerk of said county on Jan. 6, 1902. Being the same land conveyed by Chas. Ham, et ux., by deed dated February 3, 1910 to said Jean Levee, now being recorded in book E. O. p. 556 of the Records of Deeds of said County and State.

This 10th day of September, A. D., 1921. A. A. KERGOSIEN, Special Commissioner.

NOTICE.

In the matter of validation of $95,000.00 of Water Works Bonds for the City of Bay St. Louis. To the Taxpayers of the City of Bay St. Louis:

You are hereby notified that the matter of the validation of $95,000 of Water Works bonds for the City of Bay St. Louis, will come on for hearing before the Chancellor at 10 o'clock A. M. at County Court house at Bay St. Louis, on the 24th day of September, 1921, on or before which date objections, if any, must be filed.

A. A. KERGOSIEN, Chancery Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE.

"An ordinance providing for the inspection of milk cows, milk and dairies, making the inspection compulsory, creating the office of Milk and Cattle Inspector, making it a misdemeanor for a violation of the provisions of the ordinance.

SECTION 1. Be it ordered by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County that all persons, selling, giving away or exchanging milk shall have their milk cows inspected by the County Veterinarian once each year to ascertain if the cow has the disease known as tuberculosis or any other infectious or contagious disease.

SECTION 2. That no person shall, give away, or exchange milk from any cow without first having a certificate showing that such cow or cows have been tested or inspected by the County Veterinarian and that the said cow or cows are free from tuberculosis and all other contagious and infectious diseases.

SECTION 3. That all persons having milk cows shall have their places where milking is done, or the milk cans are kept, in a clean and sanitary condition and no person or persons shall sell, give away, exchange milk to any one for consumption, without first obtaining a certificate from the County Veterinarian that their place, grounds, buildings or dairy, where the milking is done, or the cow or cows are kept, is in clean and sanitary condition.

SECTION 4. All cows inspected shall be appropriately marked or branded by the County Veterinarian.

SECTION 5. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, give away, or exchange milk taken from a cow infected with tuberculosis or any other infectious or contagious disease.

SECTION 6. Persons owning a milk cow or cows shall pay the County Veterinarian $2.00 for each cow inspected.

SECTION 7. The president shall appoint a milk and cow inspector, and his appointment shall be ratified by the Board of Supervisors. The term of the inspector's office shall be one year.

SECTION 8. All persons violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not more than One Hundred Dollars or sentenced to serve not more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment.

"This ordinance shall be published 30 days in The Sea Coast Echo, a weekly newspaper published in Hancock County.

SECTION 10. That this ordinance take effect and be in force from and after it shall have been published the time provided herein, and each person selling, giving or exchanging milk shall be notified and be given a copy of this ordinance.

H. S. WESTON, President.
ATTEST: A. A. KERGOSIEN, Clerk.
September 7, 1921.

BASEBALL

Tomorrow Sept. 18th.

St. Stanislaus College

ELMER HYMEL, Pitching.

Vs.

The Parkers, of N.O.

COLLEGE CAMPUS

GAME AT 2:30 O'CLOCK